CHANGED HANDS.

The RENO DAILY AND WEEKLY GAZETTE has changed proprietors and the new firm is now fairly installed on the premises. Some minor details will still engage my attention in the office until December 1st, at which time my connection with the GAZETTE will be severed. I shall at that time take occasion to refer gratefully to the good treatment received at the hands of Renoites, and throw the editorial slipper after the new firm.

JOHN F. ALEXANDER.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The New York Times is publishing full dispatches regarding the alleged bulldozing of Republicans in the South. They present every phrase of villainy which can be imagined in connection with the election franchise. Here, however, is something new, and as the dispatch says, it almost staggers belief:

In all the counties of South Carolina where there was opposition, the Democrats voted a diminutive tissue ballot, inclosed generally in a larger one. They were voted in batches. I have heard two men confess to voting, respectively, 18 and 20 of them. In some boxes there were four times as many votes as there were voters in the precinct. In others the excess of votes over voters was withdrawn by a blind-folded man, who almost invariably took out the Republican tickets. In this county the Republicans vote more solidly than in 1876, when the majority was over 1500 Republican. This time it is 2800 Democratic, (more than the number of Democratic voters.) Stuffing was resorted to as a pastime, and was carried beyond all bounds of necessity. Everybody is laughing about it, and no attempt to deny or conceal the fraud is made, except in the newspapers. The tissue paper tickets are general throughout Republican counties, showing that the scheme emanated from headquarters.

Such voters ought to be conciliated. There was a pleasant affair at Virginia on Sunday evening. A party of journalists of all shades of political opinion united in inviting Senator Jones to dine with them. The Virginia Chronicle, the Enterprise, New York Herald, Gold Hill News, Lyon County Times, San Francisco Post and the Reno GAZETTE were represented. The compliment to Senator Jones was novel and coming right upon the heels of a hot political campaign in which the re-election of Senator Jones was one of the main issues, was no doubt appreciated. Such burynings of the partisan hatchet should be more common. It ought not to be so hard for men to forget now and then that they are Democrats and Republicans and to meet as gentlemen. The little meeting of Sunday night was an indication of the respect and liking in which Senator Jones is held by men of intelligence of all parties.

There is no state in which the recent elections brought out the proof of a happier change of public feeling than in Pennsylvania. For a long time both parties there have seemed to be much given over to the vagaries of the currency mongers. The Democrats have been wholly so, and the Republicans have offered very little better doctrine than their nominal opponents. But, thanks to the sterling common sense and business-like directness of Mr. Hoyt, their candidate for governor, aided by the party managers, the Republicans early in the campaign forsook the insanities of their platform and made a straight and gallant fight for hard money and resumption. The splendid victory which they have achieved will confirm them in their new position, and we have, doubtless, seen the last of trimming on the financial question among the Republicans of Pennsylvania.

After all that has been said about the sensationalism of Talmage, the eccentric parson of Brooklyn, there is no denying that he tells a good many truths. He has been visiting the gambling dens and other strongholds of New York wickedness and tells what he saw there and goes for the moral scalp of respectable rascals who go in for vice on the sly. If Talmage never does anything worse than this, we hope that other clergymen will follow his sensational example.

Mrs. John Side, of Altoona, has given birth to triplets. We don't know where Altoona is, but we're willing to bet large sums on the correctness of the returns. Furthermore, there is money ready to back the affirmative of the proposition that John advises all young men to marry. In the face of such frightful dangers, we ask in all calmness what these married unfortunates mean by asking any man to forsake a condition of life in which triplets are impossible?

A New York dispatch says that the medical commission which recently visited the South to investigate the origin and causes of the yellow fever will report next week. It presents a startling array of fact sustaining the theory that this epidemic travels in the path of commerce and is always imported by means of infected ships, persons, freight or clothing; also, that the conditions for its spread are lowlands and fermenting filth. The general conclusions reached are, that its original introductions may be prevented by thorough quarantining and fumigating of all vessels from infected ports, including freights, and that its spread can be absolutely checked by careful destruction of fermenting filth, in which its germs are developed and disseminated.

The New York Times tells of a practical joker who got tired of life and wrote this note:

New York, November 10, 1871.—I am tired of life and am about to commit suicide. You will find my body at the terrace at 8 o'clock.

WILLIAM WATSON.

William then gave way to his humorous propensities and either laid his body in another place, or made a cruel hoax out of the whole affair. He ought to be fined for malicious mischief.

A correspondent of the London Standard has the boldness to object to the extent of the subscriptions for the relief of the sufferers by the recent Thames disaster. He sees no reason why the survivors should be made better off by public charity than they would have been if the accident had not occurred, or than others of their class who lose friends and relatives by other misfortunes.

The White Pine News, which has been published in Hamilton since 1869, suspended publication last week. The reason assigned for suspension is dull times and the inability of its owners to publish the paper without loss. Hamilton supported two daily papers at one time, and was one of the liveliest towns in Nevada.

King Humbert came near being knifed the other day by a patriot. Patriots are becoming too fresh. A guard is stationed on the stair of the GAZETTE office.

Woman is a curious creature. She is all gentleness and purity and angelic all round, of course, but she does queer things occasionally. She is petitioning in Salt Lake now to be a polygamist.

The Times-Review spells emigration with two m's and the editor refers to himself as "ourself." Reno's tar bucket is at the service of Tuscarora.

A COMPLIMENT WELL DESERVED.

Senator Jones Entertained at Dinner by Members of the Nevada Press.

[Virginia Chronicle, Monday.]

A number of gentlemen representing the press of Storey and adjacent counties—Republicans and Democrats alike—entertained Senator John P. Jones at dinner last evening, as an expression of their high regard for him as a watchful representative of the interests of Nevada in the senate of the United States. R. M. Daggett presided. After dinner every gentleman present expressed the most kindly sentiments of good-will toward their honored guest, and wished him unbounded success in his future senatorial labors. Realizing, as all did, that on the re-assembling of congress, efforts would again be made to impair if not destroy the benefits to accrue to the nation from the adoption of the double money standard, there was a generally expressed wish that the press of Nevada—so much interested in this question—should present an unfaltering advocacy of the great silver bill, with which the senator's name was so honorably associated.

The gentlemen present included T. B. H. Stenhouse, correspondent of the New York Herald; R. M. Daggett, of the Enterprise; State Senator W. Frank Stewart; Arthur McEwen, of the Reno GAZETTE; T. E. Picotte, of the Lyon County Times; Alf. Doten and W. W. Austin, of the Gold Hill News; E. L. Colton and D. E. McCarthy, of the Evening Chronicle. All the formalities usually incident to occasions of this character were dispensed with. It was simply an earnest, honest manifestation of the appreciation and good-will felt toward the senator by the gentlemen who had occasion to closely watch his course in the senate, and was joined in as heartily by the members of the Democratic press as by those of the senator's own political creed. A delightful evening was spent.

Governor Fremont, of Arizona, in his report to the secretary of the interior, expresses the opinion that the control of Indians there should be transferred to the military.

CONDENSED TELEGRAMS.

Geo. Houston was shot and killed by John Cole on the 16th, near Deadwood, D. T.

A telegraph line from Deadwood to Fort Keogh, Montana, has been completed.

F. A. McDougal, mayor of Los Angeles, died on the 16th.

The San Francisco Workingmen are talking of a parade on Thanksgiving day.

W. Lange, under indictment for forgery, escaped from the county jail at Yreka on the 16th.

The ship McNear, from Hongkong, is ashore near the mouth of the Columbia river.

Julius Miller was killed by a falling tree near Portland, Oregon, on the 16th.

F. Austin, an old printer and publisher, died suddenly on the 16th at Roseburg, Oregon, while eating breakfast.

Last week it rained forty-eight hours between Maricopa Wells and Tucson, Arizona.

Two Umatilla Indians have been found guilty of the murder of George Cogan, committed last summer near Cayuse station.

Willie Thresher, of Stockton, aged 14 years, while duck shooting in a boat, lost a part of his foot by the accidental discharge of his gun.

In a quarrel with his wife at New York on the 16th Michael Rossiter hurled a lighted lamp at her, which set fire to her clothing, burning her to death.

At Madrid the prosecuting officer of the royal court has demanded that the sentence of death on Moncasi, the would-be assassin of King Alfonso, be carried out.

Campana, who at Bridgeport, Conn., was trying to beat O'Leary's record of 521 mile in six days, failed by several hours.

An attempt was made at Naples on the 17th to assassinate the King of Italy, who was slightly scratched with a poniard, and his chief minister wounded in the thigh. The assassin was secured.

Nine regiments of Russian cavalry have reached Adrianople.

The Macedonian insurrection is spreading toward Epirus and Thessaly.

Commissioner Williamson, of the general land office, is en route to this coast.

The cashier and directors of the First National bank at Xenia, O., have been indicted for embezzlement.

By the explosion of the boiler of a locomotive at Mahanoy City, Pa., on the 16th, four persons were killed and ten badly injured.

An entire election board in Philadelphia, four Republicans and five Democrats, were arrested on the 16th, charged with returning more votes than were legally cast.

The supreme court of Florida has issued a writ of mandamus to the canvassing board at Alachua to show cause why three precincts, which they threw out, should not be counted.

The strike of the oyster shuckers has ended at Baltimore by the men returning to work at the employers' rates of fifteen cents for eight quarts.

Commissioner Raum has revoked the regulations concerning gauging and proving of spirits while at an artificially high temperature; also the ruling which forbids the heating of cistern rooms by artificial means.

It is reported from London that indications have been prevalent, since the Glasgow bank failure, of a great financial crash.

The English people are greatly disatisfied with the mystery in which Beaconsfield shrouds his Afghanistan policy, and his ministry is rapidly losing ground in the popular estimation.

The President's Policy.

New York, Nov. 18.—A correspondent telegraphing from Washington says: President Hayes, appealed to for an authorized announcement regarding his position toward the South and his intentions with reference to revoking the law at the recent election, went to his desk, and taking a pamphlet copy of his last message to congress turned to the fourth page and said: "My position has not changed toward the South. It is the same as when I wrote my letter of acceptance, my inaugural address, and my message to congress a year ago. In my message I said" (and the President read as follows): "It should be our fixed and unalterable determination to protect by all available and proper means under the constitution and laws the lately emancipated race in the enjoyment of their rights and privileges. Whatever authority rests with me to that end I shall not hesitate to put forth." The President read the last sentence with emphasis.

A Great Flood in England.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Norwich is inundated by a freshet in the river Wensum, in consequence of a fortnight's steady rain. Two of the most densely populated districts are several feet under water. The basements of all the factories, warehouses, granaries and dwellings along the river are flooded. One or two deaths by drowning are reported. Four or five miles of streets are submerged, and from 3000 to 4,000 dwellings made uninhabitable. The result is a vast pecuniary damage. The authorities are maintaining the homeless poor.

Fatal Explosion of a Locomotive.

MAHONNY CITY, Pa., November 18.—The boiler of the locomotive Gem exploded at the Philadelphia and Reading depot yesterday, instantly killing the engineer, Frank Broccous, conductor Jacob Trout, and a boy named Calvin Lutz. George Hagabuch, a helper, died later. Eight or ten others were injured badly. The engine is a complete wreck, and the depot and telegraph offices are badly shattered.

A Yankee Tiger Slayer.

[N. Y. Times.]

D'Harnacourt, the great professional tiger slayer, who is employed by Great Britain, through the government of Singapore, is a native of the United States, though of French extraction. His father having been taken prisoner with Napoleon in the Moscow campaign, was sent to Siberia, whence he escaped and came to this country. The son was born on the plains of the far west and early became a hunter, ranging in search of game over an immense territory. Desirous to see the world he went to sea; was wrecked off Formosa and badly treated by the natives of that island. An English captain induced him to visit Singapore, where he got his engagement, his price being £10 per head for tigers. D'Harnacourt is saving money to go to Algeria, where he will be under French authority, and where he can kill lions instead of tigers, as he covets the fame of a lion-slayer, and is desirous to rival Girard. The American Gaul is said to be not only fearless but reckless, and has had many desperate encounters, from which good luck alone has delivered him. He is inclined to intemperance also, and it is not unlikely that some tiger will ere long hunt him with fatal success, and save him the trouble of a journey to Africa.

Elopement or Suicide?

[S. F. Post, Monday.]

Auguste Guido, who has a wife and children in Genoa, Italy, and Miss Clorinda Rottanzi, a daughter of Dr. Rottanzi, of No. 301 Third street, have disappeared in company, and there are conflicting opinions as to whether they have run away or committed suicide. They took a boat on last Wednesday afternoon on Berry street, between Third and Fourth, and rowed off toward Oakland. The boat was found on the beach by the Oakland police on Thursday morning and on that day numerous letters were received by friends of Guido bidding them good bye and stating that he had sought a watery grave. The number of these letters has excited suspicion, and led to the belief that they were intended to cover up an elopement. Parties answering their description were seen on the overland train. The lady was a handsome brunette of twenty-six. The couple are believed to have stopped at some way station between here and Sacramento to avoid pursuit. Guido was a partner of Thomas B. Shafter, at 220, California street. Whether his accounts are correct is not yet known, as he left them in confusion. The girl took nothing but the clothes she wore.

A Lecture on Glanders.

[S. F. Bulletin, Monday.]

On Saturday morning A. de Tavel, veterinary surgeon, delivered a lecture at the university at Berkeley on the subject of glanders. The disease is characterized by swollen glands, ulcers in the nasal passage and discharge from the nostrils. In chronic glanders the disease begins like simple catarrh but in the acute disease the animal shows signs of fever, and the ulcers in the nose become large. The disease continues from four days to fifteen years, but the average continues from fifteen to twenty days. The lungs are always affected and other organs are often attacked. That the disease is contagious has been proved by many experiments. Dogs, cats, sheep and cattle are easily inoculated. Man can be inoculated also, and the doctor mentioned several cases in this city where men had died from the disease. At present there is no known remedy for the disease, and when the symptoms become well marked in any animal, it should be killed. Specimens of diseased skin were exhibited, showing the pathology of the disease.

A Shocking Blunder.

[S. F. Stock Exchange.]

Charles F. Crocker of the Central Pacific stepped into the wrong buggy on the 4th instant and drove off with it. The owner missed his vehicle soon afterwards and requested officer Wallace to hunt up "the thief." Wallace found the buggy standing on Sansome near California and watched it. When Mr. Crocker came out and climbed into it, Wallace, who did not know him, climbed in, too, and drove around to the city prison, and booked Mr. Crocker for grand larceny. Crocker declared his identity and was released, and now he has had the officer cited to appear before the commissioners on a charge of making an unlawful arrest. Everybody can not be supposed to see the royalty which halos the head of our railroad magnates, and officer Wallace did not see it. He only did his duty, and the whole blame rests with Crocker. People who drive off with other people's buggies must expect to have a little unpleasantness occasionally and to suffer for their own mistakes.

Deaf, Dumb, Blind and Drunk.

[N. Y. Times.]

A deaf mute, a blind man and a drunken woman stood in a row before Justice Flammer in the Fifty-seventh street police court yesterday. They were all charged with being drunk and disorderly, but the deaf mute was discharged, while the other two were sent to the Island for four months, because the work of trying the deaf mute had to be carried on with paper and pencil. The justice, the interpreter, the sergeant, two clerks, and ever so many policemen all tried to make him hear that he was charged with intoxication, but he smiled at them sweetly and answered not.

Stewart's Body Reported Discovered.

NEW YORK, November 17.—The World circumstantially publishes the taking possession of Stewart's body by Weelawken cemetery last night, and the arrest of all the persons implicated in the robbery. The other journals have stories corroborative of the above, but there is still much mystery about the case, and nothing certain seems to be known outside of the police headquarters.

JOTTINGS.

—The weather is growing colder daily.
—The river is now rising a little daily.
—The doctors are now gathering the fall crop of colds.
—Earl's barley mill is grinding away. We have said that before.
—The clouds still hang over the mountains and more snow is probable.
—Mrs. J. C. Hagerman, who has been dangerously ill, is a little better to-day.

—Sierra Nevada is still on the down grade; 81, 82, 83, 90; that's about the figure this afternoon.

—R. H. Wright is to be State Treasurer Crockett's deputy. Robert is competent to fill the position.

—There must be some peculiar attraction at San Francisco just now. A great many Renos are at the bay.

—Mrs. R. P. Chapin, who has been for several days confined to her bed with a severe cold, is again able to be around.

—J. P. Foulkes of Verdi publishes good news for the teamsters in our 50 cent column 300 cords of wood to haul.

—The Cooks, who were invited to leave Reno by the vigilantes, and Carson, the pal of Tar-and-feather Jones, are in Virginia.

—There are only three persons in the county jail, a smaller number than have been confined there at any previous time during Sheriff Lamb's term.

—Dwight B. Huntly, the mining expert, came down from the Comstock last evening, where he has been looking at some mines, and passed through to the bay.

From the way a number of married residents of this burg are laying in there winter's supply of wood, that their is concert of action among the busy housewives.

The thanksgiving turkey is making his appearance in the mercantile coop. He gobbles apprehensively as the cold gliter of the housewife's eye falls upon him.

—J. C. Hagerman announces to-day that he will bring his business down to cash after Dec. 1. Make your calculations according, as the rule will be strictly enforced.

—J. K. Fleming has invented a blower for the ventilation of mines and will give an exhibition of his contrivance at J. L. McFarlin's establishment at two o'clock to-morrow afternoon.

—Poker parties at present engage the exclusive attention of the aboriginal population. The cold weather made a brisk demand for wood-splitting muscle, and there is considerable wealth afloat among the Pinto circles.

—The GAZETTE acknowledges the receipt of complimentary tickets to the reception of the Twilight Social Club of Carson to be held this evening. The Twilight club is a social organization of first-class standing and its reunions are very enjoyable.

—Sam Davis of the Virginia Chronicle is receiving his reward for those remarkable Democratic speeches which he delivered in the eastern part of the state. He is laid up with rheumatism and is very sick. He justly looks upon himself as a special object of divine displeasure.

Dancing Class.

To-night Professor Varney, of Virginia, will organize a gentlemen's class at Smith's Academy of Music. Mr. Varney is a competent musician and teacher. Those who lack confidence in their grace, or are ignorant of the latest Terpsichorean novelties, should join the class to-night at 8 o'clock. Gentlemen will be educated as to their heels at a very low rate, and we understand that when sufficient progress has been made to satisfy the dancers, ladies will be admitted.

Important to Millionaires.

The bears are just knocking the stuffing out of stocks. Sierra Nevada $100 and Union $71. Farewell to our greediness. No, my dear, that trip to Europe is off and please don't talk of bonnets. Barkeep, put that down.

Death of John Corning.

After an illness of about three months, John Corning, assistant general superintendent of the Central Pacific railroad, died on Sunday morning at Sierra Madre valley, San Gabriel, near Los Angeles, Cal., where he had gone in the hope of improving his health. At first Mr. Corning's sickness was a remittent fever, during which he was seized with congestive chills from which he never recovered. His wife was with him during his illness. The remains will be taken to San Francisco for interment. Mr. Corning was a native of New York, and was fifty-two years of age at the time of his death. For twenty years he was connected with railroads, first entering the service as conductor on the Michigan Central, running out of Chicago. Subsequently he became connected with the ticket department of the New York Central, of which his uncle, Erastus Corning, was president. He was soon promoted to assistant division superintendent, which he relinquished ten years ago and went to California. Immediately after his arrival in that state he was appointed assistant general superintendent of the Central Pacific railroad, and continued to fulfill the duties of that office until three months since, when sickness compelled him to retire.

A Wildcat's Mission.

They are still hunting for Morris Ash's strawberry. The latest attempt is from New York. A couple of months ago an item appeared in the GAZETTE, describing the beauties and amiable peculiarities of Morris' wildcat. The New York Dispatch, which frequently improves its columns with articles from the GAZETTE, copied the wildcat story, and a lady, the wife of Morris H. Johnson, 149 East Thirty-second street, New York, saw it, and having lost a brother named Morris Ash, wrote to the GAZETTE asking about our Morris and enclosing a letter to him. Morris isn't the brother. This item may chance to come under the prodigal eye of the real wanderer, so that it is not impossible that the wildcat may after all be the blessed means of uniting a family.

Take Him Back, Mollie.

The following letter was picked up on Second street, near the corner of Virginia street, this forenoon, and the man who found it was mean enough to give it to a GAZETTE reporter, who, with still greater meanness, unhesitatingly publishes:
"My own darling Mollie:
Why don't you rite to Me telling Me that you'll let Me come and see you? O if you nu the ofal agony ime living in you wuddint be so cruel. A Lost Journalist.

The Elko Post says: The typographical artists of Eureka astonished the people from their usual apathy by having a high old jamboree last Sunday evening. Probably, McEwen, of the Reno GAZETTE, will visit the base range after leaving Virginia, in which event he will make a strenuous effort to convert the bibulous typos to the cause of temperance. His present visit to this city has been productive of much good in this respect.—Virginia Stage.

In some cases it has, but the Stage man still staggers on to his hideous fate. He shall always, however, have an interest in the temperate prayers of the steadfast McEwen, whose capacity for virtue is only exceeded by his ability as a financier.

Suicide at Silver City.

[Virginia Chronicle, Monday.]
A Portuguese from Washoe valley arrived in this city on Saturday with a load of hay, which he left somewhere on the divide and went down to visit a friend in Silver City. While sitting in the cabin of his friend last evening about 6 o'clock he put a pistol to his head and killed himself. They both had been drinking together. The friend gave the alarm, and soon after was arrested on suspicion of murder. He was being examined to-day before Justice Tait when our informant left.

Our New Servants.

Certificates of election have been issued, by order of the county commissioners, to the newly elected county and township officers. The county commissioners will meet on Monday, December 2, to examine the official bonds of the new officers. It is desirable that all to whom certificates of election have been issued should qualify and file their bonds with the county clerk before that time.

A New York Opinion.

[N. Y. Times, Nov. 8th.]
The Reno (Nevada) GAZETTE, is a remarkable little sheet. Although published in the desert it seems to be able to fill its columns every day with bright original matter, and is as violently interested in national politics as if Reno was the capital of the country. The Times frequently quotes good things from the GAZETTE.

GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICES.—At Osburn & Shoemaker's drug store: One-dollar Patent Medicines for 87 1/2 cts! Seventy-five cent Patent Medicines for 62 1/2 cts! Labbin's Extracts for 87 1/2 cts! Florida Water, 50 cts! All other Patent Medicines and Toilet Preparations cheaper than can be bought elsewhere. Prescriptions carefully compounded from pure fresh drugs, and at greatly reduced rates.

New and elegant toilet articles constantly arriving. Call and see them. Queen's Drug Store, west side Virginia street, Reno. 5-24

Run Over and Killed.

A tramp while counting the railroad ties from Clark's to Wadsworth came upon the body of a man lying on the railroad track. The corpse was frightfully cut up, showing that the wheels of a train had passed over it. The man pulled the body off the track and on reaching Wadsworth informed the authorities. Coroner Haslund was telegraphed for. It is probable that the deceased was stealing a ride on the bumpers or brakebeam of a freight train and fell from his perch to his death. He was a middle aged man, short, thickset, with dark complexion and black beard. An inquest was to have been held at Wadsworth to-day.

Mrs. Scott Siddons.

Late last night a telegram from Carson reached the GAZETTE office asking that arrangements be made for Mrs. Scott Siddons to read at Reno to-night. The dispatch came too late to allow of arrangements being made for the hall and this morning Smith's Academy of Music was found to be engaged for to-night. It is to be hoped that the talented and beautiful lady will be able to favor Reno to-morrow evening. If so, due notice will be given.

Cruel Silence.

President Hayes has sent on to Carson for a photograph of Deacon Parkinson. Rutherford has also written Nevada's only journalist anxiously asking him his opinion of his changed Southern policy. The Deacon is cruelly keeping Hayes in suspense, but has forwarded the photograph.

Kearney Coming.

Dennis Kearney will pass through Reno on his way to San Francisco on Monday night next. Of course the entire population will stay up and turn out to see the man who elected Butler and made the streets of Boston run with blood.

Had His Doubts.

Deacon Parkinson was lately asked by a church-member how the spirit of piety was thriving in Carson. "Well, said the Deacon, 'poorly, I couldn't conscientiously say their were more than two Christians in Carson, myself and Farmer Treadway, and I have my doubts about the farmer."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

CLOTHING.—Grand Reopening of the White House, next door to Postoffice. The Having purchased the entire stock of Men's and Boys' Clothing and Furnishing Goods of Messrs. Cohen & Isaacs, and made a large addition thereto, I am prepared to sell this clothing at lower rates than any merchant in Reno. I respectfully solicit the patronage of the public, and am convinced that on the examination of my stock, and the price at which I sell, that no person who gives me a call will go away empty handed.

The remarkable virtues of the combination of Benzoin, Glycerine, Honey, etc. [See my formula in GAZETTE Nov. 18th] known as Myrtle Balm, for chapping of the skin, etc., being now acknowledged by all, I will only say that I keep it constantly prepared from the best materials and every kind of medicinal and toilet preparations of the first quality, at my laboratory and prescription drug store, Opera House, west side Virginia Street, Reno, Nevada. R. E. QUEEN 11-17
